

CONTENTS

Foreword
Rabbi David Ellenson, PhD	xi
Translator's Preface
Rabbi Peretz A. Rodman	xv
Preface	xvii
Tov L'hodot: How Good It Is to Give Thanks	xxi
Tishrei	1
Kavanah: A Meditation for Tishrei	3
At the Gates of Tishrei	4
Poem of the Month: Achot K'tanah ("Little Sister")	5
Human Time, Cosmic Time	6
"Let Us Proclaim the Power of This Day": Human Being, Nation, and World	9
Is Forgiveness Possible?	15
Kol Nidrei and Babylonian Incantation Bowls	19
Sukkot: "We've Stepped Out. Be Back Soon!"	23
Simchat Torah: There Is No Joy Like the Joy of Torah	28
Prayers of the Month:
A Blessed Meal of Symbols	31
Ashamnu, Bagadnu: Old and New Confessions	35
Ushpizin and Ushpizot: Heavenly and Earthly Guests	40
Praying for Rain: Old and New Geshem Prayers	44
Marcheshvan	47
Kavanah: A Meditation for Marcheshvan	49
At the Gates of Marcheshvan	49
Poems of the Month: Songs of Rain and Realization
Geshem ("Rain") and Geshem B'ito ("Rain in Its Proper Time")	50
A Toast to the Blessing of Routine	53
What Shall We Remember on Yitzhak Rabin Memorial Day?	56
Jeroboam Demands Social Justice (and Religious Freedom)	60
Sigd: The Holiday of the Ethiopian Jews	63
Prayer of the Month: Egzio sema'ane —"Eternal, Hear Us"	67
Kislev	71
Kavanah: A Meditation for Kislev	73
At the Gates of Kislev	73
Poem of the Month: Maoz Tzur ("Rock of Ages")	74

Kislev: To Be Most at Home in the Entire World	76
“Open the Gate, Open It Wide”	80
Two Chanukah Menorahs, Two Worldviews	82
The “December Dilemma”	84
We Celebrate, We Eat . . . and We Argue	87
Prayer of the Month: Dedication of a Home (Chanukat HaBayit)—Not Just for When You Move In	91
Tevet	95
Kavanah : A Meditation for Tevet	97
At the Gates of Tevet	98
Poems of the Month:
Lailah (“Night”) and Mizmor Lailah (“A Night Psalm”)	99
Rosh Chodesh Tevet: The Festival of the Women	100
A Candle for Rabbi Regina Jonas	105
A Fast (or Fasts) during Tevet and the Danger of Translation	108
Hebrew, Revived—Part I	111
Prayer of the Month: Bedtime Sh’ma	115
Sh’vat	119
Kavanah : A Meditation for Sh’vat	121
At the Gates of Sh’vat	121
Poem of the Month: Efnt dem Toyer (“Open the Gate”)	122
Tu BiSh’vat: A Growing Holiday	123
They Didn’t Try to Kill Us, So How Can We Celebrate?	128
The Connection between Gardening and Parenting	130
Shabbat Shirah: The Shabbat of Song	133
Family Day	137
Prayer of the Month: Prayers for the Welfare of Our Families	141
Adar	143
Kavanah : A Meditation for Adar	145
At the Gates of Adar	145
Poem of the Month: Shir Samei-ach (“A Happy Song”)	146
Must We Be Happy? Always?	148
The Joy in Incompleteness	150
The Faces of Janus	154
A Matter of Time: Adar I	156
Everything Turned Upside Down: Switching Gender on Purim	160
Purim Sheini: A Second Purim	163
Prayer of the Month: Esther Does T’shuvah	166

Nisan	169
Kavanah: A Meditation for Nisan	171
At the Gates of Nisan	172
Poem of the Month:
When Taharlev Met Ibn Ezra: Kotnot Pasim Lavash HaGan (“The Garden Donned Coats of Many Colors”)	173
Why Is This Night Different—and What Is Still the Same?	177
O Brother, Where Art Thou?	181
Women at the Seder: Speaking Out of Order?	184
Lots of Flavors of Mimouna	189
How (and Where) Are We to Remember the Holocaust?	193
“They Must Be Whole”: S’firat HaOmer / The Counting of the Omer	198
Prayer of the Month: The Prayer for Dew (Tal)	205
Iyar	207
Kavanah: A Meditation for Iyar	209
At the Gates of Iyar	209
Poem of the Month: HaTikvah (“The Hope”)	210
The Twilight Hour: Between Yom HaZikaron and Yom HaAtzma-ut	213
Who Are the Ones Who Remember—and Who Is Remembered?	216
The Farmer and Chagall’s Floating Jews	221
How Many Types of Food Bless the Land of Israel?	225
Hebrew, Revived—Part II	229
Lag BaOmer: Yahrzeit , Might, and New Light	232
Prayer of the Month: Al HaNisim for Yom HaAtzma-ut	236
Sivan	239
Kavanah: A Meditation for Sivan	241
At the Gates of Sivan	242
Poem of the Month:
Saleinu Al K’teifeinu (“Our Baskets Are on Our Shoulders”)	243
Shavuot: It Grows on You	246
First Fruits, Many Words	250
“Honey and Milk Are Under Your Tongue”: Food for Body and Soul	255
Ruth and Joining the Jewish People	258
“And the Torah in One’s Mouth Shall Be Sweet”:
Rites of Initiation into Torah Study	262
The (Forgotten) Fast of the Twentieth of Sivan:
Three Stops on the Journey of Mourning	266
Prayer of the Month: Akdamut Milin	269

Tammuz	275
Kavanah: A Meditation for Tammuz	277
At the Gates of Tammuz	278
Poem of the Month: Atanu L'cha (“We Have Come before You”)	279
On the Importance of Taking a Break	281
To Die in Tammuz: Some Thoughts on Alienation and Identity	285
Crying Over You, Tammuz	288
Long Live the Protest!	291
Prayer of the Month:
Prayer for the Welfare of Schoolchildren on Vacation	295
Av	297
Kavanah: A Meditation for Av	299
At the Gates of Av	299
Poem of the Month: Eish Tukad B'kirbi (“A Fire Is Kindled within Me”)	301
“The Face of Tishah B'Av”: The Tenacity of Memory	305
By the Rivers of Babylon, We Were Like Dreamers	309
Jewish Phantom Pain: On the Temple That Was Destroyed	313
We Want Mashiach (Messiah) Now?	317
Tu B'Av (Fifteenth of Av): Celebrating in the Vineyards	321
Prayer of the Month: Praying for Love	325
Elul	329
Kavanah: A Meditation for Elul	331
At the Gates of Elul	332
Poem of the Month: The Stuff of Which Life Is Made:
Psalm 27, “The Eternal Is My Light and My Deliverance”	334
An Unapologetic Look at S'lichot	338
Lamaze for Creation: Shofar during Elul	342
The First of Elul: Rosh HaShanah for the Animals	346
Prayer of the Month: The Thirteen Attributes, “Which Do Not Come Back Empty-Handed”	351
Afterword	355
Glossary	357
Diagram of the Hebrew Calendar Year	363
Sources, Permissions, and Notes	365
About the Author	377